Намскома, Остовев 24гн, 1885. THE Prison Bill, which was read a second time at the meeting of the Legislative Couneil on Wednesday, is no doubt an excellent measure theoretically, but it would be interesting to know what practical necessity exists for it. The statement of the Attorney-General in moving the Bill throws no light on this for an appeal to arms must result in his point. The learned gentleman merely wouchsafed the information that the Ordinance was intended to make fresh provision for the regulation and management of prisons in Hougkong, that as soon as it is passed a large code of rules will be issued, and that the disciplice of the gaol will be assimilated, as far as possible under existing circuinstances, to that prevailing in convict prisons and gaols in England. But all this could have been done under the existing law, by left here yesterday for a cruise. which the Governor in Council is authorised to revise or add to the gael rules as may from time to time be found necessary. To an extension of the gaol of this description no reasonable objection can be advanced. It is but reasonable Lea and Perrins on a red to suppose that as the city of Victoria increases in population more gaol accommodation should be required, besides which is is worth some moderate expenditure to secure facilities for the extension of the separate system, though we maintain the advantages of that system as compared with the present one would not be worth the expenditure which an altogether new gaol on a different site would cost. The removal of the female prisoners-of whom there are not usually more than half-a-dozen-from the present gaol will also render a large additional space available for the male prisoners, either in soparato cells or otherwise. The present gaol, therefore, with the extensions which may be made from time to time, ought to be sufficient to meet all reasonable requirements for many years to come; but it will hardly be possible, in the space at the disposal of the authorities, to provide a separate cell for each prisoner. This being so, any legislative action as to the separation of the prisoners might advantageously be deferred.

Intelligence from Zanzibar states that the Kingfisher and Dragon, two of the vessels on the East Indies station, have made some important captures of slave dhows and liberated large numbers of slaves. Both captures were made at Pemba, where there is a large demand for slaves to pick the clove crop. The Kingfisher's capture was very cleverly and courageously effected. While the ateam cutter was absent for the purpose of coaling, only one seaman and an interpreter being on board, a slave dhow have in sight, and imagining the course to be clear, she dropped anchor. The interpretor and the semman, the latter being hidden from view, put off in an old cance, and were greated with very hostile demonstrations by the Arabs, who pointed their guns and flourished their swords at the approaching cance, but its occupants succeeded in driving five of the Arabs overboard, and on reaching the shore they disappeared in the bush. Then the seaman, who was all the time exposed to the Arab fire, shot at and killed the captain of the dhow, and at once took possession of a 57-ton vessel, which was crowded with slaves. The dhow was condemaed, the slaves liberated, and the court which afterwards investigated the circumstances held that the Arab's death was perfectly justifiable.

With the uncertainty, of life is mingled the dark mystery of death! While, on the one hand, we catch the welcome sound of a new breath of life that tells of an addition to our species, on the other we shudder as we hear the rushing wings of the Destroying Angel! The mighty voice of the Great Influence which rules the Universe has pronounced our fate; the dread flat has gone forth, and every mortal man is doomed to die!. But, though we cannot prevent, can we postpone death ? The question is momentous, even if it concern the prolongation of life but by a single hour, inasmuch as every instinet prompts us to fight the boldest battle ... can for this glorious boon of existence. The promptings of instinct are but the spontaneous voices of nature, and it is our duty to obey. But there still remains the question, can death be postponed by a single hour ! Yes; for the world works in obedience to certain laws; and a study of these proves that those who have the judg-ment and the will to buckle on the shield, which nature places ready to their grasp, may ward off the insidious attacks of the implacable enomy of life, until, in a ripe old ago, the vital faculties gradually decay, and the Angel of Poses glides softly into our presence, leading us, as it were, in a gentle slumber to the regions beyond the shadow of the tomb.

The Fell Destroyer makes his first approaches in many forms, but none are more favoured by him than that of a deadly foe now preying upon the very vitals of Modern Society. What is this foe? There are few among us who have not been or are now to some extent its victims. ban of this frightful scourge? Let him ask himself whether he experiences any of the following symptoms :---There are pains about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back. The mouth has a bad taste, especially in the morning; and there are feelings of dulness and drowsiness. The appetite is poor, a sort of sticky slime collects about the teeth, there is a feeling as of a heavy load on the stomach, and sometimes a faint, all-gone sensation at the pit of the stomach, which food does not satisfy. The eyes are sunken, the hands and feet become cold and feel clammy. - After a while a cough sets in, at first dry, but attended in the course of a few months with expectoration of a greenish colour. The sufferer feels constantly tired, and sleep seems to afford him no rest. Nervousness, irritability, and evil forebodings follow. When rising suddenly, there is a giddiness, a sort of whirling sensation in the head. The bowels become costive; the skin is dry and hot at times; the blood becomes thick and stagnant; the whites of the eyes are tinged with yellow; the urine is scanty and high coloured, depositing a sediment after standing. There is frequently a spitting up of the foodat times with a sour taste and at others with a sweetish taste. This is often attended with palpitation of the heart or impaired vision, with spots before the eyes, accompanied by great pros-tration and weakness. All of these symptoms are in turn present. It is thought that nearly one-third of our population has this disease in some of its varied forms. Medical men have mistaken the nature of the malady. Its true name is Dyspepsis or Indigestion; for which a certain remedy is to be found in Mother Seigel's Curative Syrap-a medicine which has won in both hemispheres a confidence founded only on its great virtues. The Syrup can be obtained from any chemist or medicine vendor, or from the proprietors, A. J. WHITE (Limited), 17 Road, London, E.C.

I HAVE NOT HEARD A SINGLE COMPLAINT.

"Baldock, Herts, January 4th, 1883. "Gentlemen,-Perhaps it would be appropriate to state, that it gives me great pleasure to push and advance the sales of your medicines, on account of their worth. I have not had or heard a single complaint about your medicines since I have sold them, but, on the other hand, unbounded testimony as to their worth, therefore I can with confidence bring them to the public notice.

During 1882 I sold 114 dozens of the Syrup, and 71 dozen Pills. This, I think, taking into account that the inhabitants are under 2,000, and there are two other agents in the town, will give you a good idea as to how it is appreciated here. -Faithfully yours, "H.
